New live timewalk attraction planned for Chequered Fort

■ DAVE Allan with the Chequered Fort in the distance

A LOCAL historical group wants to use the Chequered Fort on Portland Breakwater as home for a new “live” Weymouth Timewalk attraction and a maritime history museum.

Dave Allan’s Pike and Shot re-enactment company is at the heart of the proposals which are hoped to be developed after the 2012 Olympics.

The fort has been abandoned since 1956 and Mr Allan said: “We want to hold talks with Portland Port about possible use of the Chequered Fort which is a unique Victorian site.

“If we can’t get use of the Fort then we will look elsewhere at other sites because the project is proving popular.

“We already have interest and support being shown by other groups including the Nothe Fort and divers who want to join us and set up a maritime museum in tandem with the concept of a new Timewalk attraction using “live” interpreters to portray Weymouth’s history.

“If we can interest Portland Port in use of the Chequered Fort then we would apply for a Lottery grant to develop the site as a double museum with future expansion into Tall Ships and maritime festivals which all ties in with the council’s attempts to turn Weymouth and Portland into a centre for maritime excellence.

“I must stress that this is all on paper at the moment and it will be several years before we can make a concrete start, but Pike and Shot has already held talks with several interested groups which have promised to support the project.”

Mr Allan added that visitors could get to the site in a variety of ways including by boat or via small land train-style transport.

He said: “Historical interpreters would then interact with visitors in a variety of sets from the Roman and Viking era through the Tudor and

by Harry Walton

Civil war periods up to Georgian, Victorian and both World Wars.

“Allied to this would be a maritime and diving history display and tours potentially linking Weymouth’s Nothe and Sandsfoot forts with Portland’s Verne Citadel, High Angle Battery and castle.

“We hope to approach Portland Port soon, diving groups have already approached us about a joint venture and the Nothe Fort has promised to support the venture which could create up to 70 jobs.”

Nothe Fort director David Joy pledged the Fort’s support for the project and said: “Weymouth and Portland is steeped in a unique history and it is thanks to local organisations that nationally important structures such as the Nothe Fort have been saved for the nation providing an important heritage asset that attracts over 50,000 visitors each year.

“The Chequered Fort is an equally important structure and therefore it is essential that it is saved as a monument to the ingenuity of our forefathers and as an educational resource so that future generations have the opportunity to learn from the past.

“I totally support the concept of restoring the Chequered Fort as part of a project to save our heritage and we are making available the Nothe Fort Resource Centre and our experience in the conservation of coastal forts.”

Portland Port commercial manager Ian McQuade said: “Portland Port is always interested in exploring new possibilities with local businesses and community groups.

“We look forward to talks with Pike and Shot at the appropriate time.”

NEXT week the Burton Bradstock Festival of Music and Art will begin its 30th anniversary year. To mark the anniversary this week's 60 second interview is with the festival Chairman Janet Whitaker.

Janet grew up in the North of England and studied for a degree in Drama at Manchester University before becoming a teacher. Five years later she applied for a BBC job in Northern Ireland. Janet didn't get the job but was offered work as a drama producer for BBC radio in London where she worked for almost 30 years. Janet retired to Burton Bradstock five years ago after being seriously ill.

Janet originally became involved with the festival when she hosted musicians during their stay. She is now chairman of the festival committee, sharing organisational duties with her team and Festival Director David Juritz who lives in London.

The festival runs from Sunday, August 14th to Sunday, August 21st.

■ WHAT makes Burton festival special?

There is a nice relaxed atmosphere about the whole thing. In the concert themselves, because a lot of the musicians have come down over a number of years, the audience greets them like old friends and it makes it a really nice intimate atmosphere.

I would say it's that relaxed nature, the fact we have world-class musicians, and partly the way David runs it actually. He makes it quite informal, talking to the audience a lot and I think that's one of the special things about these concerts.

■ WHO do you think the festival appeals to?

I'd like to feel it appeals to the people of Burton Bradstock because it's their festival but then we do get people from the whole of the Bride Valley and further afield. Anybody who is interested in music is welcome to come to it. It appeals to quite a wide audience now because its not just classical music. A lot of people are beginning to realise that you can enjoy all different types of music if they are played really well, I think that is the whole point of the festival.

■ HOW do you think the festival has developed over 30 years?

Originally it was Mary Ryan, who was a flute player who lived in the village, who started doing some summer concerts and bringing some of her students down to perform.

I think they only did about three concerts to begin with but David (Juritz) took over from there and has carried it on. As it's grown we've tried to get more people in and have a wider mixture of music. We have 11 concerts this year, which is pretty good going for a week in a small village.

■ ARE there any concerts you're particularly looking forward to this year?

The Cinema Classics on the Thursday night. It's unusual for us and there will be a lot of iconic film scores, which I think we'd like to promote to the potential audience as it really will be a good concert. Some of the best music of the Twentieth century was written for film!

■ DO you find the art compliments the music?

I think there is something like 150 paintings in this year's exhibition, plus pottery and woodwork; it's a really wonderful mixture for all tastes. I think with art, even more than with music in fact, people have got very widely different tastes of what they like and what appeals to them. Over the past few years the quality has been getting better and better. It's well worth coming to see, and they are all for sale too.

■ WHO were the most famous faces you worked with at the BBC?

Probably the most famous was Dirk Bogarde, I was his radio producer for about the last 10 years of his life. He was wonderful, he was a heartthrob for me as a little girl so it was amazing to work with him in any case, but he was a real gentlemen. Another one who was very well-known was Kathleen Turner, she came over to do a detective series with me, twice in fact. I've been very lucky, I've worked with some wonderful actors. One of the most extraordinary people I met was the astronaut, James Irwin from Apollo 15. I did an interview sat next to him on a sofa, but this man was the eighth to walk on the moon and no one else in my lifetime will.

■ WHAT was the last book you read, film you watched and CD you listened to?

The last film I watched was actually at the From Page to Screen Festival in Bridport, I saw a wonderful film called Housekeeping and I've just been reading the book by Marilynne Robinson because of that. The last CD was probably the Alabama 3 but before that I listened to a wonderful CD by Jan Garbarek called Officium, saxophone and plain-song, an amazing combination.

Ban lifted on seafront traders

WEYMOUTH seafront traders at the centre of a council row over leases are celebrating after a ban was lifted on their trading.

Cafes, fast food and bucket and spade outlets were delighted when a July 5th council management committee agreed to allow the bulk of traders to continue operating ahead of completing new seafront kiosks as specified in their leases.

The same meeting also allowed Tony Deadman, who had met building problems, to trade temporarily until September 30th provided he then started to build a distinctive new bronze boat-shaped kiosk similar to one just completed by his brother, Daren.

But days later the same seafront businesses were appalled to be told that they were banned from trading because Councillor tee has met to consider the call-in and been given legal advice that the initial management committee decision was valid which meant the "call-in" fell.

also be asking that if management committee made a decision which went against council officers' advice then they should give clear reasons why they had done so.

Tony Deadman said after the meeting: "I don't know what I feel. I am a bit dazed but I am pleased it is all over. Common sense prevailed."

Earlier the meeting heard a dozen different statements from councillors, former councillors and members of the public including Gary Haywood who said the whole situation had "embarrassed" Weymouth. He added that management committee's original decision had been the right one and should stand.

Alderman Jess Nagel said future call-ins should not be by one councillor but at the request of a committee, adding that "a policy which causes businesses to nearly fold has got to be looked at".

Management committee member Councillor Howard Legg said what they had done had been "in the best interests of everyone on the beach" while Councillor Kate Wheller said: "I hope you will decide against the call-in and allow traders to start recouping some of their investment so we can salvage some of the reputation of this town."

Councillor Peter Farrell was blunt. He said: "I am asking you to put a stop to this nonsense tonight. Council officers have messed these people about for two years. It has to stop here tonight."

‘Council officers have messed these people about for two years. It has to stop here tonight’

Amanda Munro had "called in" the management committee decision as being against council contractual rules, forcing the council to suspend traders' right to trade.

Now a meeting of the authority's scrutiny commit-

Councillor Kevin Hodder told the meeting: "The call-in clearly falls, management's decision stands, therefore we have nothing to discuss."

Members unanimously agreed with him to uphold the management committee decision, but chairman Councillor Simon Bowkett said of the "ongoing saga": "While the call-in falls, I think we all acknowledge that this process has not run as we would have wished it to run."

He added that he would be supporting a future look at policy and at the way councillors were required to declare a personal interest if it touched a matter being discussed by the council. He said he would

■ AT LAST! Daren and Claire Deadman enjoy an ice-cream during the first morning's trading at The Boat

A NIGHTMARE came to an end for Weymouth seafront trader Daren Deadman when he officially opened his new Esplanade kiosk, The Boat.

Behind him lay a year of intense planning talks which had originally seen him hope to open in April. Daren said: "We hit delays with the lease and with building problems, but at least we are finally open and trading with almost the whole of the school summer holidays in front of us."

"It has been a bit of nightmare but it is over now and all I want to do is welcome my customers."

His distinctive new bronzed kiosk in the shape of a boat has attracted widespread comment and Daren said: "I would particularly like to thank the traditional shipwrights who worked night and day to build my new kiosk."

"Another vote of thanks goes to every member of the public who has told me how much they like it while wishing me well for the future."

Daren's brother, Tony, also has a similar boat kiosk under construction which he hopes to officially open on October 1st.

The site had been operating unofficially as Mr Deadman was in dispute with Weymouth and Portland council over trading permission attached to seafront leases.

Revamp your local community with a conservation and planning grant

DO you have a project that will either help improve your local landscape, the local historic environment or participation in community planning? If so West Dorset District Council would like to hear from you.

The Conservation and Community Planning Grant scheme offers the opportunity for groups to apply for grants of up to 50 per cent of the cost of a project up to a maximum of £3,000 (maximum £1,000 for individuals or businesses).

West Dorset District Council would like to hear from businesses, community groups and town and parish councils in West Dorset who think their project is eligible for a Conservation and Community Planning Grant. Groups have from now until 31 October 2011 to apply for a grant.

West Dorset District Council Leader Robert Gould said: "We are very lucky to live in an area such as West Dorset. This grant is a great opportunity to look after and preserve the beautiful surroundings we live in."

"I would encourage community groups who have a project that they think is eligible for a grant to apply."

"The district council is pleased to be able to support schemes like this while keeping council tax low and not cutting frontline services."

The grant will fund projects such as historic character projects and projects that result in a lasting enhancement within a conservation area, examples include conservation of traditional walls, railings and gates, traditional paving and steps, market crosses, traditional painted sign writing, village wells, pumps and pounds.

The grant will also fund landscape character projects such as projects that result in a lasting enhancement to the local landscape, examples include hedge laying, hedgerow and woodland planting and heath land restoration.

Community and neighbourhood planning projects that develop a parish plan, parish plan revision or neighbourhood plan could be entitled to a grant, funding can contribute towards consultation events, questionnaires, analysis, publicity, communication and printing.

The grant will not fund work or equipment that has already been paid for or ordered, salaries and running costs, ongoing maintenance and projects that mainly benefit an individual householder or landowner.

The district council runs a separate small grant scheme for arts and sports projects called the Leisure Development Fund. For more information visit www.dorsetforyou.com/leisuredevelopmentfund.

Councillor defends library closures

A PORTLAND county councillor has defended his part in a 21-20 decision to back withdrawing county funding from nine local libraries.

Les Ames represents Portland Tophill but voted to withdraw funding from the nine libraries which include neighbouring Underhill.

A full meeting of the authority proved a bitter disappointment for campaigners fighting to save funding for the nine sites.

Members had two choices to help the county library service save £800,000 – either to remove funding to nine libraries or to make cuts across the service but retain all 34 libraries.

The final vote went against saving the libraries despite a barrage of cat-calls and boisterous cheering from library campaigners.

A defiant Mr Ames said he had voted with the good of a future library service in mind.

He added: "I didn't make this decision lightly and I spent weeks trying to work out what to do.

"At the end of the day I voted for Option B because I felt it was designed to build up our library service, to improve it, to increase its use and to give it a bigger role."

Among other libraries to have funding withdrawn were Chickerell, Burton Bradstock, Charmouth, Puddletown and Wool.

Graham Lee, chairman of Ad Lib, the group campaigning to keep all Dorset's libraries open said: "We are completely gutted to lose.

by Harry Walton

"The fact that there might be more cuts one day is no reason, in our view, for depriving these small and often isolated rural communities of their libraries. Their loss will cause much hardship among the young and the old and the disabled. Why inflict such pain when the feared cuts might never come?"

"We are down but we are not out. We will now fight to get the best deal we can for the libraries the council wants to wash its hands of.

"The main thing we will be arguing for is that any community which takes over the running of its library from the council should still be covered by the 1964 Libraries Act.

"The council's officers are telling us that, as voluntary bodies, we would not get that protection, but we're not buying that. We have no confidence that without the law behind us, Dorset County Council would continue to supply us with the books we need to survive."

Mr Lee added that Ad Lib would now be meeting with its legal advisors to decide how to proceed if any legal challenge to the council's decision were decided on.

He said: "We will obviously be keeping in close touch with other counties in the south west which are pursuing such actions. Wherever possible we will work with them and their lawyers."

No to 'Lego' parking system

A ROTARY car parking system described by one objector as "noisy as hell" has been unanimously rejected by planners.

Buckland Construction had sought permission for the system – which could have been the first of its kind in the borough – to serve a proposed block of seven flats on Commercial Road, Weymouth.

But Christopher Fry of nearby Quayside Court, who said he was actually interested in one of the new flats, told a meeting of Weymouth and Portland planning committee that he was very concerned at the new parking "contraption".

He regularly visits Japan where similar systems exist and he said they were "noisy as hell".

There was more concern at the lack of detail in a noise report, something the applicants said could be dealt with in a more detailed report while there could be conditions imposed to ensure adequate operating noise before development.

But Councillor Ray Banham said: "This sort of thing might be fine in Japan, but we have pride in our town and our conservation area and this is definitely not fitting in very well at all. There is already plenty of adequate parking in the town."

Councillor Anne Kenwood said: "I can't see how this will improve or enhance the town centre conservation area."

Others pointed out there would be no control over what hour of the day or night cars went in and out of the vertical stacking system while Weymouth and Portland Mayor Councillor Graham Winter savagely criticised the proposal as "looking like it has been designed by Fisher Price and Lego".

The meeting then unanimously refused permission for the new parking system because it wouldn't enhance the conservation area and because there was insufficient information to show it wouldn't hit nearby residents' amenities.

Nothe viewing area approved

TENTS, cabins and other temporary structures have been approved for use on the Nothe Olympic sailing viewing area in Weymouth.

Councillors unanimously backed the request from the London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games, but members of Weymouth and Portland planning committee did impose a number of conditions on the permission.

Two key ones were that there should be no deliveries to the site between 10pm and 7am to ensure nearby residents had peaceful nights.

Members also asked that generators should be on the east side so they'd be at least 400 metres from homes.

The meeting was told that up to 4,600 spectators would watch events each day from informal seating areas and that 12 tents and a cabin would provide catering, cleaning, logistics and medical services as well as technology and media facilities, pedestrian and bicycles access points. There would also be a video screen on the south east corner of the site.

LOCOG town planning manager Neil Smith said spectator safety was "of paramount importance" while he added that an agreement was close to being signed allowing Weymouth Civic Society, which operates the Nothe Fort, two evenings of entertainment during the Olympic Games.

LOCOG Games operations director said: "Both the Osprey Quay site and the Nothe Gardens are on loan to the London 2012 Games. We must return the Nothe Gardens to the residents of Weymouth and Portland in the same condition as it was loaned to us in and we will also undertake improvements to the existing pathways and public toilets."

Swan census at sunrise

HUNDREDS of swans were rounded up and checked over by vets in the largest operation of its kind at Abbotsbury Swannery.

The bi-annual round up and census of the swans along the Fleet was carried out by staff from Abbotsbury Swannery and volunteers from across the country.

The round up started on Friday with 90 canoeists slowly herding swans down from the Portland end of the Fleet where they were encouraged to stay overnight at Abbotsbury Swannery by a temporary boom.

At sunrise on Saturday morning the swans were brought ashore into holding pens, ready for the census, by hundreds of volunteers wading out or paddling canoes.

Once processed the swans were then carried back to the waters edge where they were released back onto the Fleet.

The Round Up was supervised by Her Majesty's Swan Warden, Professor Chris Perrins of Oxford University.

Professor Perrins said: "We learn a lot from

Words by Tom Glover
Photos by Graham Wiffen

the round up but more importantly the swans benefit. It means we can have a jolly good look at every swan, and any bird that needs attention, gets attention."

"It is a huge amount of work," added Abbotsbury Swanherd Dave Wheeler "and there is a certain amount of worry.

"We only get one crack at this, once every two years, so we have to get it right. One year, the wrong bloke was in the wrong place and we lost about 300 swans. All of a sudden the swans panicked and broke through the canoes. People were jumping in the water trying to stop them, but we lost the lot.

"This year it went superbly well, as smooth as silk. There was a wonderful spirit, a great mix of people, everyone worked together, it was fantastic.

"We caught 771 swans. We only missed about five or six, and we deliberately left 18 or so parents with cygnets.

"I judge the success of a round up not by how many swans we catch, but by how many we fail to catch, so to miss less than one per cent is brilliant."

To maximise people's chances of catching as many swans as possible, and to make carrying large wet birds simpler, the round up is held when they are moulting and cannot fly.

The first round up was held in 1980, partly to assist Prof Perrins with long-term studies into the Abbotsbury swans.

In past years more than a 1000 birds have been rounded up for the census. This year's numbers are thought to be lower because of the high number of seagulls, crows and foxes preying on young cygnets around the lagoon.

Children's author in Dorset

AWARD-winning author Tanya Landman will visit Dorset next week to talk about her Poppy Fields books.

The crime books for older children have proved a hit with readers and the 'Mondays are Murder' title won the Red House Book Award and the Leeds Book Award.

Tanya said: "Dreaming up plots is highly addictive. I can't look at an ornament now without wondering if it would make a good blunt instrument, or enter a building without puzzling over where the body might be discovered."

Tanya will be at Dorset libraries at the following times on Tuesday, August 9th.

A year to go!

A GIANT banner on Portland Bill lighthouse was put up to mark reaching the one year to go milestone before Olympic sailing events come to the borough.

Portland Mayor Ian Munro-Price and Weymouth and Portland Deputy Mayor Margaret Leicester each added their signatures to the banner.

It was also covered in goodwill messages from more than 400 local school children attending a secondary college day at Weymouth College.

That's the way to do it!

by Harry Walton

WEYMOUTH has hosted the world's first ever live advert break in a Punch & Judy show.

It was staged to encourage holiday-makers to start planning their travel arrangements for the 2012 Olympic Games.

More than 100 children and parents were enjoying Mr Punch causing his usual mayhem when, halfway through the 2pm show, Punch and Judy acted out funny and increasingly bizarre methods of getting around Weymouth and Portland throughout the 2012 Games to a backdrop of the Olympic Delivery Authority poster advert in which they star.

They gave spectators the important message that travel around Weymouth and Portland next summer will be different while the Games' sailing events take place.

The pioneering method of advertising in a prime position on Weymouth seafront will run for several more days in every show that Professor Mark Poulton performs and it is estimated that up to a fifth of all holiday-makers to Weymouth and Portland will see the live ad break in the show over the course of its run.

Professor Poulton said: "I was persuaded into the advert and it has brought Punch and Judy into the Olympic limelight."

An ODA spokesman said: "We're always looking at new and original forms of advertising, so we couldn't resist approaching Mark to work with him to advertise in his shows, especially seeing as we estimate it will reach over 5,000 people during its run.

"To have Mark feature in one of our adverts was very important to us as he is a landmark in Weymouth. With his help we are able to get the message across that travel will be very different next summer when the Games come to Weymouth and Portland."

The final word went to Mr Punch himself who said: "As Weymouth's newest luvvie and the number one star of Weymouth beach, I have to say I look amazing in the adverts. I've already told Judy to look into renting bikes for next summer - we have to be on time for our fans you see. That's the way to do it!"

Successful week

■ WEYMOUTH all weather lifeboat links up for a "rescue" with the coastguard helicopter

for lifeboat funds

CROWDS flocked to Weymouth's Nothe Gardens to enjoy a barbecue while watching an annual "rescue" display led by the lifeboats and the coastguard helicopter.

Casualties including Patch the Panda and a sand-filled human dummy were rescued from the walls of the Nothe Fort while more casualties were picked up from a liferaft by surfboard and the inshore lifeboat.

Finally the all weather lifeboat joined forces with the coastguard helicopter for the spectacular transfer of a casualty to huge applause from watching spectators.

Other attractions on the night included a barbecue, bar and live music from Headland while there was also a grand draw and an RNLI stall.

Weymouth Lifeboat chairman Michael Gill said: "Lifeboat Week is our major fundraising event each year and the rescue display and barbecue followed the next day by the lifeboat station open day were key elements of that."

"It was wonderful to see so many people and all the money we raised will go to general RNLI funds."

■ A HUNGRY queue builds up for the barbecue

Local winner for spirit raffle

LOCAL woman Helen Rettie has won the £1,000 first prize in Weymouth and Portland's Spirit of the Sea Maritime Festival charity raffle.

The raffle was held to raise funds jointly in aid of the local Weldmar Hospicecare Trust and the festival and the draw was made by celebrated actor and director Julian Fellowes.

Helen Rettie said she was "over the moon" at her good fortune and never dreamt that she would actually win.

She added: "I just wanted to support the Weldmar Hospice and Spirit of the Sea Maritime Festival."

Reduce your electricity bill and MAKE MONEY with the solar power people!

Earn over £800 from your rooftop

Every year for 25 years!

Save energy and make money with solar power

CORGI GREEN AWARD FINALIST 2009

DORSET'S own award winning Ace Energy are the leading suppliers of solar power. Recently they have installed solar at a number of homes within Weymouth. With the average electricity bill being around £600 yearly, installing solar on your roof can reduce that bill by up to 50% and provide home owners and landlords with a healthy profit. This is due to the Feed-In Tariff scheme which pays premium rates for power generated from solar power - Dorset households on the scheme are now earning over £850 every year. The tax free, inflation-proof payouts are designed to protect the UK from ever-rising energy prices and help lower carbon emissions. You may have noticed an increase in the amount of roofs proudly showing off their solar panels recently and according to Alan Seviour, Ace Energy's MD, solar has never been more popular.

With interest rates at an all time low investment savvy householders are looking for alternative ways to earn money and solar power offers just that.

Wonders of creation

WE are privileged to live at a time when modern technology and equipment enable us to discover many marvels of the natural world. Land, sea, air and outer space are yielding information previously unknown as discoveries continue to be made.

What is more, by means of colour television and detailed photography, we have the pleasure of seeing much of this for ourselves. But things that amaze us do increase our sense of responsibility – not only to care for our environment, but also to worship the creator.

We are not creators. We are discoverers of what has already been created for our benefit. It will be a sad and dangerous day if we overstep our God-given ability and abuse our knowledge by meddling in forbidden areas.

It is worth remembering that, in general terms, the more we magnify anything God has created, the more perfect it looks. But the more we magnify anything that is man-made, the more imperfect it becomes. The limit to which a photograph can be enlarged is a good example compared with what a microscope reveals of nature.

The Bible says: "God saw all that he had made, and it was very good." (Genesis 1:31)

Teddy bears' picnic!

■ BEARS celebrate their picnic at Victoria Gardens, Portland

TEDDIES put their best paw forward for the annual Teddy Bears' Picnic in Victoria Gardens, Portland.

The event, organised by the friends of the gardens attracted more than 100 children and parents who took part in a variety of games, competitions, marches and parades. There were also stalls for plants, books, cakes and tombola in aid of the gardens.

Spokesman Douglas Pigg said: "We always do well with the picnic but this year was exceptional there were so many here."

"All the money we raised will go towards improving the gardens and we have just unveiled new gates containing a motif of the old Victorian bandstand here."

■ READY TO READ: Tesco community champion Roscoe Neal, Sharon Mitchell (centre) and Tophill Library volunteer Margaret Young at the reading challenge stand

Circus stars reading theme

CIRCUS stars was the theme when Portland's Tophill Library unveiled its summer reading challenge for children.

Library manager Sharon Mitchell took a stand to the island's Tesco supermarket to promote the initiative.

She said: "The event, which runs right through the summer holidays, challenges children to come into the library and take out six books during the holiday."

"They must read as many of them as they can and they get a special sticker as a reward for each book they finish as well as a medal and certificate when they complete the challenge."

"The theme this year is circus skills from clowns to trapeze artists."

"To help encourage children we also gave them a special display case to show off their stickers and medal."

Tophill Library is open every day except Wednesday and Sunday.

Another award for borough's green spaces

GREEN FINGERS: Staff, councillors and garden group supporters celebrate a Green Flag award for Greenhill Gardens in Weymouth

GREEN-fingered council staff have helped make two Weymouth and Portland gardens among the best in the country.

Their skills have seen Greenhill Gardens in Weymouth and Easton Gardens on Portland both receive coveted Green Flag awards for the fifth and fourth year respectively.

Weymouth and Portland tourism and community facilities spokesman Councillor Andy Blackwood said: "It is a credit to both the council's parks team and the friends groups that Weymouth and Portland can once again boast of having two of the best green spaces in the country.

"Maintaining our gardens to such a high standard helps to improve the quality of life for residents in our borough and I would like to thank all those involved in making this happen."

Greenhill's friends chairman Barbara Dubben said: "The gardens are looking absolutely fantastic this year and truly reflect the good work that the gardeners put in to maintaining them to Green Flag standards.

"One of our main aims is to encourage local residents to visit the gardens more regularly and we do this by hosting a number of events throughout the year including our Summer Fayre on August 7th. It will be the perfect opportunity to proudly show off our fabulous gardens."

Green Flag Plus Partnership chairman Phil Barton said: "I would like to congratulate this year's winners, who have worked hard throughout the year to keep their parks and green spaces at a high standard and ensure they are pleasant and enjoyable spaces for the whole community.

"All award-winning sites now have a chance to receive a further award from the Green Flag Plus Partnership, the People's Choice Award. This award is voted for by the public, so if you want to see your local park receive a national accolade as the people's choice, then visit the Green Flag Award website now to register your vote."

Knitted carnival float is coming together

by Harry Walton

THOUSANDS of knitted items are slowly being stitched onto panels for the spectacular Let's Make It community float in Weymouth Carnival.

More than 300 volunteers have knitted items for the float and an assembly session at the Park Community Centre in Weymouth was one of several planned to complete panels.

Organiser Julie Hursthouse and local artist Julie McCabe master-minded assembly and said: "There were an incredible amount of items here yet they represented only about one per cent of what we have got!

"It has truly been an effort across the generations from four-year-olds to 94-year-olds.

"The amount of work which has gone into making knitted items for our float has been tremendous.

"We hope the result seen by tens of thousands of people will be a high point of the carnival procession."

New Partners Appointed

BEVISS & Beckingsale, solicitors with offices in Axminster, Chard, Honiton and Seaton, have appointed two new partners as from 1 July this year.

Mark Carlisle, a partner in the Axminster office says "There are a lot of challenges ahead for market town practices such as ours and those firms which don't adapt to meet those challenges are going to lose out, or indeed cease operating.

"Those in the know predict the demise of many market town practices. The introduction of new partners, and therefore fresh ideas, is part of our ongoing planning process and we are fortunate to have two such excellent lawyers within the firm who both embrace the firm's ethos of putting clients first and striving for excellence in service levels.

"I'm very much looking forward to their involvement in the future management and development of the firm."

Victoria Boyer, a private client solicitor in Axminster, says "As soon as I joined Beviss & Beckingsale about three years ago I knew immediately I'd made the right decision.

"I shared the partners' view of what a solicitors' practice should be - accessible and friendly yet simultaneously providing a professional service backed up with the latest IT infrastructure.

"I'm very excited to be having my say in the future development of the firm and in particular the continued improvement in private client services (wills, powers of attorney, tax advice, estate administration, etc.) provided by the firm."

Frances Griffiths, who deals with property and business matters in the firm's Chard office, says:-

"I joined Beviss & Beckingsale from a background of working in one of the larger regional practices.

"What struck me is that Beviss & Beckingsale are very well equipped in their technical knowledge, information resources and information technology all of which will be crucial if market town firms are to survive.

"However, the firm appreciates that its most important asset is its staff all of whom are dedicated to, and take a keen interest in, the firm's development.

"I consider my role as a partner to be providing fresh input to the management decisions of the firm and in particular developing the commercial work in Chard, which is my particular speciality."

Police crack down on dangerous drivers

MOTORISTS who try to speed across Weymouth's Town Bridge after a warning signal that it is about to lift are being reported to police.

Video footage of several offending drivers has already been handed to the police after CCTV cameras caught vehicles speeding over the bridge after the barriers had started to go down.

The council warns that driving through a signal to stop is illegal and points out that the law recognises the bridge warning lights in the same way as a red traffic light.

Staff say it is also dangerous for pedestrians and bridge operators because drivers trying to beat the barriers reach high speeds while also risking damage to their vehicle as the heavy metal barriers are lowered.

Weymouth and Portland transport spokesman Councillor Christine James said: "All drivers are aware of the basic rules of the road which include not driving through a red light.

"CCTV cameras overlooking Town Bridge have number plate recognition technology and any footage of drivers breaking the law by driving through the warning lights will be handed straight to the police.

"This council is not a soft touch when it comes to protecting the safety of residents.

"Drivers may not realise the huge gamble they are taking by breaking this law, but their actions could easily result in serious injury or death.

"There have been several incidents where bridge operators and pedestrians have narrowly avoided being hit by vehicles speeding over the bridge to avoid the barriers I'd like to remind road users that no matter how much of a rush they are in, it's never worth taking the risk.

"Drivers who break the rules will be identified by CCTV which may result in a court summons leading to a fine and possible confiscation of the vehicle."

Korean War veterans remembered

■ Respects are paid at the service to mark the 58th anniversary of the Korean War ceasefire.

HIS distraught family hoped against hope that "missing" meant Korean War soldier Douglas Bence hadn't been killed in action but was a prisoner of war.

The grim reality was that winter conditions were so harsh that, although Bence died in action in November 1952, it was not until April 1953 that his body was found.

His ultimate sacrifice was remembered by brother, Trevor, from Bristol when he laid a wreath during a service at Weymouth's Nothe Fort to mark the 58th anniversary of the Korean ceasefire in 1953.

Mr Bence said: "It was a very poignant moment for me. We had hoped Douglas was a prisoner of war but it was not to be."

The service was taken by the Rev Richard Franklin of Holy Trinity and also included a wreath laying by the HMS Ganges Association.

British Korean Veterans Association Dorset branch president Douglas Baker said: "We only have 46 members or widows of members left, so each year we hold this service becomes increasingly important. We have a good bunch of lads and we will be back next year."

Weymouth and Portland Mayor Graham Winter said that nearly 1,100 servicemen and women from this country gave their lives in Korea, 2,600 were wounded and more than 1,000 are still unaccounted for.

He added: "It is right to remember those who gave their lives and the service did just that."

The Jurassic Coast: An aerial journey through time

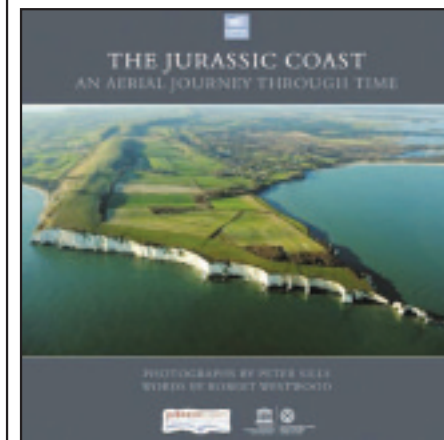

A NEW book gives readers a unique bird's-eye view of 95-miles of the Dorset and East Devon coast.

The Jurassic Coast, An Aerial Journey Through Time (Coastal Publishing, £9.95 hardback) takes aerial photography to new heights.

Geologist and TV presenter Professor Iain Stewart said: "This book is a glorious celebration of one of England's most iconic stretches of coastline in which stunning aerial views and wonderful stories combine to reveal a truly remarkable geological past."

Written by Robert Westwood with aerial photographs by Peter Sills, the book provides a visual feast as the camera swoops and dives to capture an ever-changing landscape of clifftops, horse-shoe bays and headlands along this iconic World Heritage site.

Each awe-inspiring aerial photograph is accompanied by an explanation of the geological processes that have shaped the rocks over 185 million years while funds raised from sales of the book help the Jurassic Coast Trust to support conservation and education programmes for the World Heritage Site.

■ Viewing exhibits at Upwey Craft Show in Weymouth.

Talent on display at Upwey Craft Show

MORE than twenty exhibitors put their talent on display at Upwey Craft Show in Weymouth.

The annual event, which was held in aid of village hall funds, first took place in 1976.

Hall trustee Fil Cooke (correct) said: "We had paintings, pottery, jewellery, cards, photography, fine millinery, knitting and patchwork goods as well as wood carving, felt and stained glass.

"Also on show was a patchwork quilt. Each year one is made for the event and raffled.

"We were very pleased at the results of what was our major fund raising event of the year."

■ SOME of the objects in the "finds" area are displayed by Stella de Villiers.

VISITORS had a chance to join a garden "excavation" when Portland Museum held a hands-on archaeology day.

Diggin' the Museum included a series of holes being dug in the garden to see what archaeology could be found in the museum's own grounds.

The event was led by museum volunteer and archaeologist Stella de Villiers who joined staff in welcoming visitors to the event.

She said: "We even had one pit with "finds" displayed on the surface so children could put a grid over the hole and learn how to record the position of items being discovered."

Museum co-ordinator Lisa Gravett said: "We had no idea what was below the surface of the garden and we came up with some very interesting piece of pottery and glass.

"Children were also able to tackle cave painting and make a timeline of figures from the Stone Age to modern times while viewing a range of archaeological finds kindly donated by Dorset County Museum.

■ STELLA de Villiers holds a flint axe at one of the displays.

"Children had to draw them, they were asked what the objects were used for and they were also able to handle a Bronze Age axe and a Roman spice grinder.

"Visitors could even join a finds hunt by trying to identify various historical figures found at different points around the museum.

"They had to identify objects displayed, what they were made from, what they were used for and what would be the object's modern equivalent.

"The whole day was part of the Festival of British Archaeology, one of our other events for that including a celebration of the Stone Age with living history expert Dee Reilly and flint knapping expert, Nick the Flint."

NEWS FLASH

Urgently required pre-owned Rolex and top quality watches

Weymouth Matters

A personal View by HARRY WALTON

Fascinating tastes of the Dorset public

REPORTING news has been my working life, but what happens if you are a newsagent?

Clearly such an outlet in a rural location would stock a variety of magazines and periodicals as well as the local papers and most of the British nationals as well, but what about further afield?

I was enjoying a cup of coffee in a village location and became aware of its tiny newsagent where papers were clamped to a board...and what an incredible array there were.

Titles ranged from the USA, Ireland and Germany to France, Italy and Spain. There were also several papers of a Middle East origin although which country they were from I couldn't tell.

All this was rounded off with Australia's finest and papers from South Africa and India.

It was most impressive. The outlet may just have been a small village newsagent but it clearly had its finger on the world's news pulse. Interesting that newspapers in Arabic have a potential market in rural Dorset.

Crawling caravans frustration Not quite so convenient

ENOUGH is enough and I'm considering joining the RAC.

This is not the distinguished motoring organisation famous for its blue badge and helping motorists who have broken down. It is a new far right splinter group proudly calling on drivers to Ram All Caravans.

The straw which broke my back on this particular subject came when I was trying to get to Dorchester for an urgent hospital appointment and was unlucky enough to be five seconds too late exiting a roundabout which left me stuck behind a car towing a caravan.

I use the word towing advisedly since that actually implies forward motion and there was precious little of that.

Instead my car led a rapidly growing convoy of frustrated drivers stuck behind a giant Revelation caravan which was truly a revelation.

Quite how anyone can consistently do 32mph in a 50mph limit on a fine sunny day in still conditions is beyond me and there was no chance of overtaking because the caravan was so wide it almost completely blocked out any sort of forward view.

Now we are a tourist area and should welcome visitors who help boost our economy, but there are limits.

Like a snail, caravan owners effectively carry their home on their backs... and they travel about as quickly as well.

I understand from police that drivers of slow-moving vehicles risk committing an offence of inconsiderate driving if, once traffic builds up behind them, they fail to pull in at the first safe opportunity to do so and allow vehicles behind them to flow past. Penalties include three to nine points on a licence and a fine of up to £5,000.

Now I'm sure the majority of caravan drivers try to keep up a good speed, but some clearly crawl along and it is to these that the law might be applied.

I'll be on the beach with an ice cream

SO that's it then. Olympic organisers have got the planning go-ahead to put up temporary structures at both Osprey Quay on Portland and the Nothe in Weymouth.

Of course, some such structures catch the eye more than others and one of them has to be the delightfully named "doping control centre".

This no doubt means that any sailor thought to be three sheets to the wind can expect to see a blue flashing boat in his mirror before being pulled over and taken to the centre for testing.

However, I feel the doping control centre would have been better sited not at Osprey Quay but on the Nothe where it would be bound to do brisk business among the spectators.

After all, they'd have to be high on drugs to fork out loads of cash for a seat there to watch the sailing events since most yacht races will be some distance out.

Far better to watch them on a giant beach screen for free while demolishing a Rossi's ice-cream.

THEY weren't exactly hopping from one foot to another but they were clearly in a bit of discomfort.

Things like this do happen in public places and the sufferer must have been delighted to see what they thought was an obvious solution to their need to spend a penny.

Smack in front of them was a Wessex Water roadshow by Weymouth's Jubilee Clock in which there was not only a toilet but even a basin as well in which to wash their hands afterwards.

You could almost see relief spreading across their face until reality brought them down to earth.

Staff explained that they did indeed have a toilet and hand basin with their roadshow...but they were for display purposes only and weren't connected!

The poor person then hurried away in a crouched over stance.

Well, it couldn't go any worse than last time!

THROUGHOUT the spring and summer months View From Reporter TOM GLOVER is welcoming all challenges in his column 'Take on Tom'.

This week Tom joined in the fun at the RNLI's annual WEST BAY RAFT RACE.

WITH challenges in the air and on land over the past two weeks it was time to take to the water for this week's outing.

The RNLI had arranged a spot for me on the worryingly numbered raft 13; all I had to do was turn up in my swim shorts.

My track record with the raft race is not a good one, it's actually probably the equal worst track record of anyone in Bridport. One race, one Did Not Start (DNS).

My one previous race actually prompted my first ever appearance in the View from Bridport, long before I worked here.

I featured in a front-page picture, along with my three crewmen, with the humiliating caption "That Sinking Feeling".

The raft had been hastily knocked together by my boss at the time, Chris Deacon, the voice of the raft race on the PA.

In a couple of hours he created an impressive raft but when we hit the water we realised why preparation is key. The heavy metal beer barrels that we had reluctantly used had been plugged at the front but not on top.

So with one hand on the hole and another on the paddle we tentatively made our way into the water where we realised our second mistake.

In the building process we had forgot to prepare ammunition and we were now sitting ducks, with no hands free, being hit with a barrage of water bombs.

We never made the start line and instead spent the whole race desperately trying to make it back to the slipway before we became fully submerged.

Having recovered from that experience four years ago I was ready to brave the competition again - to be honest, it couldn't go any worse.

My team this time around, from Eype House Caravan Park, were clearly experienced hands. Their raft was in its seventh reincarnation and they were looking to improve on last year's record effort of 4th place.

I was joined by Graham Dannan, managing director of the caravan park, and RNLI members Eric Hall and James Pearce.

Our raft was called 'Cooking up a Storm' and came complete with model stove and more cooking utensils than I thought we would need for our short voyage.

My chef's jacket slid snugly over my life jacket, my novelty chef's hat covered my head and I even had a novelty moustache to finish the costume off.

My team definitely meant business. As I indiscriminately threw water bombs at Alan Sugar, astronauts and even The Smurfs, they manoeuvred the raft to the start line.

As the signal sounded we went off in front and were vying for first place, perhaps this would be the biggest success in my column to date?

As the river narrowed though the rafts squashed together and we were caught up in the middle of the congestion.

To make matters worse a barrel on my side of the raft had been pierced and was filling up with water making it all the more difficult to paddle in a straight line.

The congestion got even more difficult to navigate as the leaders reached the halfway mark and turned around to come back.

We were now dodging traffic from all directions, whilst trying to compensate for the rapidly filling barrel.

We battled through and having lost a colander, a whisk and an egg slice we got into a rhythm and were now up with the leaders again.

■ SERVING UP FUN: Tom Glover joins the crew of Cooking Up A Storm at West Bay Raft Race

In the end we crossed the finish line neck and neck with the 'Unsinkable' team in joint fifth place, out of a field of 20 rafts.

To be honest I had just as much fun fighting it out for fourth place as I did on that sinking craft four years ago.

The RNLI fundraising event has firmly book-marked its place in the Bridport and West Bay events calendar. Every year the number of entries is higher, the rafts are faster and the crowds are bigger, and with next year's event coinciding with the London 2012 Olympics I'm sure it will be better again.

Portland may have world class sailing next summer, but if you want to see Where's Wally pelting the Duchess of Cambridge with water bombs or Osama Bin Laden racing a unicorn then West Bay is definitely the place to be.

Malabar Trading

This September Malabar Trading celebrates its 10th Birthday! From the moment the first shop opened the aim has always been to provide personally selected, hand crafted items from around the world. Our products display the great craft and skill of the world's textile artisans.

The ideal that unites our wide and varied range is that each item could be beautiful, useful and expertly made. We aim to provide a range of home furnishings, nightwear, clothes and gifts to anyone looking for something more than mass produced products and to bring a little quality and beauty to everyday life.

Our most recent deliveries have included some colourful Turkish kilim rugs including this expertly woven, hard-wearing example featuring a dynamic star-like motif.

We also have a new selection of Indian cotton garments and household textiles including hand-block printed tablecloths for summer dining, quilted bedspreads for nights when it is too warm for a duvet and alongside these we have a limited selection of pique quilts, bedspreads and tablecloths featuring motifs inspired by classic Mughal art. For sunny days at the beach we have a selection of leather-handled baskets and our ever popular light, absorbent and stylish Turkish towels.

For keeping cool during the summer we have a range of block printed sarongs, kaftans, night-dresses, dressing gowns and kurtas. Some of our kurtas have been made especially for us by a Fair-trade Organisation in Lucknow, northern India. They have been hand embroidered using white un-twisted cotton threads on crisp white, light cotton, this technique is known as 'chikan-work'. The name Chikan is derived from the Persian word 'chakeen' meaning 'embroidery'. The beautiful patterns are complex but the result is delicate and subtle and means that our kurtas are not only cool and comfortable to wear but are also wonderful examples of the skill of the embroiderers of Lucknow.

Keep your toilets clean! There's no excuse!

A few simple and proactive steps can make all the difference when cleaning your toilet. Many people and organisations (in non customer areas) neglect their toilets - possibly because it is seen as low priority and an unpleasant job. However cleaning your toilets on a regular basis can make all the difference.

Using Cistern blocks which can be less than £1.00 for two can be very effective in cleansing toilet bowls providing they are replenished on a weekly basis, although you could possibly get away with every two or three weeks.

Using toilet cleaner around the toilet bowl just once a day and scrubbing with the toilet brush will also make a big difference if in combination with the use of cistern blocks. You could also use toilet bowl cleaner in urinals like described above as well.

Another important thing to remember is to clean your toilet brush also. If you do not then it will soon become dirty and contaminated with germs, it will also collect dirty water which may well smell after time.

Sinks, mirrors, and tiles, should not be neglected also. You don't necessarily need to do this every day but make sure that it is done enough to keep it consistently looking presentable for the people who may use your toilets. Remember if a important customer or visitor to your house or business was to see your toilet it would reflect you as an individual or business and could be to your detriment.

Decades of experience at Bartle Pye Residential

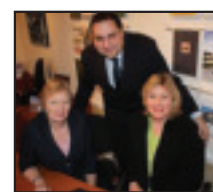

BARTLE PYE RESIDENTIAL is a partnership headed by Sue Burden, Mariana Hardcastle and Phillip Rockford FNAEA, who between them have decades of experience in the property market; both nationally and more importantly in the local area. Our aim is to offer all our clients a service that outshines other estate agents and delivers discretion, trust and absolute reliability. We work closely with solicitors, surveyors, lenders and financial advisors to provide effective solutions from the straight forward to the more complex transaction. Our standards are based on the principal of not just selling houses but helping people to make the right move. We sell homes for people with an emphasis on "homes" and "people".

Phillip Rockford FNAEA CPEA MCMI. Phillip has been in the property business for the past 14 years. Having obtained his CPEA qualifications from the National Association of Estate Agents in 2000. He has managed a number of branches within Dorset and Hampshire and so brings a wealth of knowledge and experience about the current market.

Sue Burden has been selling property for more than two decades, throughout Hampshire, Wiltshire and Dorset. Dorset has been her home for the last 12 years and she has loved working in the Dorchester area for all of that time, managing branches, running new homes sites and assisting developers. Her speciality is land and new homes, although she is equally at home marketing resale properties.

Mariana Hardcastle joined BARTLE PYE RESIDENTIAL bringing over 20 years of Residential Sales experience to the table. Her wealth of experience was largely gained in London - working within some of the top High Street Agencies within the Capital from Clapham through to Chelsea and finally spending approximately nine years heading up the exciting growth of the residential market in and around London and Tower Bridges including Borough Market and Bermondsey.

Having broad experience, we provide specialist advice on planning, building and maintenance, development, valuation, rent reviews and rating. We provide a full range of commercial agency services including sales and acquisitions, leasing and project sales.

Pop in to buy, trade, browse and enjoy!

THE latest business to open its doors in the county town, the Dorchester Curiosity Centre, welcomed members of the public to its first trading day at the weekend. With both indoor and outdoor trading areas, the Centre aims to sell antiques, modern and retro furniture shabby, chic, old and new art, jewellery, accessories, crafts, unusual gifts, organic food, plants and much, much more. Amongst the stalls busy trading on its first Saturday, visitors could buy almost anything from coal scuttles to garden statues and cinema posters to rustic tables and chairs. Fresh cherries were on offer along with burgers and sausages from Clayford Farm Produce, and granite, slate and marble fireplaces made to order. There were wonderful displays by Zavian Vintage Interiors, and the stunningly elegant, wearable vintage clothing of Mary Sharp. And the Old Tea House came along with the most delicious cup cakes, plain and fruit scones, lemon drizzle, and ginger cake – and a lovely cup of tea or coffee to wash it down.

There is also a selection of cabinets to rent and the opportunity to have furniture and other valuable items such as Rolex and Cartier watches sold on a commission basis.

Proprietor Dean is still looking for more table top sellers, both for mid-week and the weekends. And with ample free parking available, he hopes this is an offer local traders will grab with both hands. Saturday, 25th June sees his first Vintage Fair/Funday for the kids, as an event he hopes to hold once a month and he will be actively encouraging people to hold art exhibitions, wine tastings and other events in an effort to bring the wider community to the Dorchester Curiosity Centre. If you would like to discuss selling or trading, or would like to know more about the Centre, you can call Dean on 07956 540047 or 01305 251886. Alternatively you can email Dean on dsouterces@live.co.uk

Young and old come together at Camp Bestival

THE grounds of Lulworth Castle played host to the fourth annual Camp Bestival this past weekend, featuring a fantastic line-up of comedy, storytelling, kids entertainment, and most importantly, music.

My first musical taste of the weekend came courtesy of Labrinth. The Tinie Tempah collaborator's bass-heavy set, was well received by a youthful audience, and featured an funky cover of Charles Wright & The Watts 'Express Yourself', drawing on the sample made famous by N.W.A.

Next up on the Castle Stage was Fenech Soler, an electro-indie-dance foursome whose upbeat euphoric offerings were ideal for the festival's vibe, with a particular highlight being the hit single 'Lies'.

We left Fenech Soler before the end of their set to catch as much of up-and-comer Ed Sheeran in the Big Top as possible, and a wise choice it was. Sheeran, accompanied by a loop-station performed an impressive array of solo songs, with top five single 'A-Team' garnering a mass crowd sing-along, and new single 'You Need My, I Don't Need You' going down a storm. Sheeran had easily one of the biggest crowds of the weekend at the big top, suggesting big things in his future.

We arrived back at the main Castle Stage for 80s pop icons ABC, playing through a back catalogue of some of the most glorious anthems of their time, before Friday headliner Blondie took to the stage.

Debbie Harry and co delivered an classic-laden set, featuring the likes of Call Me, Hanging on the Telephone, Atomic and One Way Or Another, as well as new singles 'Mother' and 'What I've Heard' from new album Panic of Girls. Harry's vocals aren't as powerful as they once were, but a rapturous crowd gave perfect vocal backing singing along to near enough every word.

Saturday morning and lunchtime is aimed primarily at kids, with Mr Tumble, The Gruffalo and Dick & Dom all entertaining the youngsters, but music was forthcoming early on with Camp Bestival regulars The Gentleman's Dub Club performing a wonderful set of dub reggae and ska tunes which were impossible not to dance to.

Pop starlet Eliza Doolittle, whose reputation has grown steadily since her last Camp Bestival appearance, was on top form on Saturday afternoon, clearly enjoying herself with the sun shining, rattling off hits including 'Skinny Genes' and closing with 'Pack Up'.

Re-formed American/Irish hip-hop legends House Of Pain gave one of the performances of the weekend, mixing samples, heavy rock and rap to a lively reaction from the masses, with legendary party tune 'Jump Around' naturally getting everyone to... well you guessed it!

Saturday's headliner was Mark Ronson and the Business International. Beginning his set with an acoustic tribute to his good friend Amy Winehouse who died the previous weekend, Ronson was joined by The Zutons' Dave McCabe for a stirring, if slightly rough-around-the-edges, rendition of 'Valerie'. Ronson was joined by further guest vocalists throughout the set including Kyle Falconer of The View, Charlie Waller of the Rumble Strips for his bands remixed version of Winehouse hit 'Back in Black', and Alex Greenwald of Phantom Planet. Ronson and co closed with a 'Bang Bang Bang', including a raved-up rapid final twenty seconds, much to the delight of the crowds.

Saturday's musical offerings at the main stage came to a close with dance DJ's extraordinaire Groove Armada, presenting their show 'Red Light', the set was blighted by technical difficulties to start with, leaving the crowd slightly flatter than they should have been - still and enjoyable set though.

And on to Sunday - the top musical day of the festival. We were sat at the main stage for the entire day, kicking off with Ade Edmondson and The Bad Shepherds playing their atmospheric and entertaining folk covers of punk songs, including PIL's 'Rise', The Clash's 'White Riot' and a superb rendition of Kraftwerk's 'The Model' amongst many others.

The Selecter featuring Pauline Black and Gaps Hendrickson on vocals got the ska-heads skanking to hits including 'Three Minute Hero', 'On My Radio' and a brilliant cover of 'Pressure Drop'.

Further Sunday afternoon musical treats came from Sunderland's alt-rockers Frankie & The Heartstrings; grime artist Wretch 32, whose breakout hit 'Unorthodox' was a real crowd-pleaser; reggae troupe The Easy Star All Stars played superbly danceable reggae, including their famous cover versions of Pink Floyd and Beatles classics; and Katy B mixed old school club tunes with her own mix of club beats, tinged with brass.

Having rearranged their slot once already during the weekend, much to the annoyance of crowd members, DJ duo Nero failed to turn up for their Sunday slot, with Camp Bestival regular Beadyman stepping in to fill extra time with an extended slot. And thank goodness he did! The beatbox genius performed an incredible set, using up to five loop stations, and his own vocals and sound effects to create an entirely off the cuff, freestyled set, with shortened covers of Erasure's 'Sweet Dreams', 'Seven Nation Army' by The White Stripes, and 'Time To Pretend' by MGMT thrown in the mix.

Camp Bestival 2011 came to a fittingly brilliant close thanks to rock 'n' roll royalty Primal Scream, who performed their psychedelic masterpiece album 'Screamadelica' in full, with 'Loaded' and 'Come Together' creating the most incredible sonic and visual atmosphere's of the weekend, with the entire crowd mesmerised. The Scream closed their set with a selection of greatest hits, rounding things off with stomper 'Rocks'.

Other aspects of the festival may not have been up to previous standards (although nothing too serious), musically Camp Bestival 2011 lived up to expectations and then some.

Movie music to captivate festival audience

THURSDAY night is cinema night at the Burton Bradstock Festival which starts this weekend. On August 17th, the Festival Players will perform theme music from box-office record busters from Psycho to Platoon. Some - such as the Mahler piano trio used in Shutter Island and the Samuel Barber Adagio for Strings used to such effect in Platoon were classical greats long before the films existed. Others, like the themes from Schindler's List and Psycho are ground breaking compositions.

Says festival organiser Janet Whittaker: "Hearing these pieces as we watched fine drama, comedy and horror has seared them into our memories. Collectively, they are probably responsible for turning the UK into a nation of classical music lovers. All of them are works of art in their own right, whether they were composed for the films or borrowed by the filmmakers from the classical archives."

Artistic director David Juritz had plenty to choose from in creating the evening's programme:

"We've got a programme packed with silver-screen classics and it's all great music too. Samuel Barber's Adagio has been put to picture in everything from Platoon to The Simpsons. Stanley Myers' Cavatina from The Deerhunter has embedded that film in modern culture in a way that moving pictures alone could never achieve. The Mahler Piano Quartet captures perfectly the dark, brooding atmosphere of Stanley Kubrick's thriller, Shutter Island, while John William's Theme from Schindler's List has become a modern classic in its own right. Ennio Moricone, one of the most instantly recognisable voices in film music, is one of those composers who can take your breath away with just three or four notes. You can hear what I mean in his theme from Cinema Paradiso.

"We won't be able to sell you popcorn but I guarantee you lots and lots of memories!"

Young maestro conducts town band

A YOUNG holidaymaker took the baton at a recent concert in Lyme Regis Town Band's 2011 series of Tuesday evening concerts 'Music by the Sea'. To the appreciation of the large audience, he directed the band in a performance of 'Is this the Way to Amarillo?'.

Stefan, aged two and a half, was spotted earlier in the evening by members of the band, conducting in time with the music, complete with his own baton. When volunteers from the audience were invited to join Musical Director John Powell in a performance of 'Amarillo' on percussion instruments, Stefan need little persuasion to come to the fore and take charge. A search for a platform for him to stand on proved fruitless. Undeterred by this, he pressed on with support from his mum.

John Powell commented, 'I was most impressed with my stand-in, as were members of the band and audience. He showed an excellent sense of rhythm for one so young. Who knows? Perhaps we might have seen a future 'maestro' in the making!'

At the end of the concert, the band said farewell to cornet player David Baldwin, a member for the past two years. During this time, he proved his versatility, having also played the double bass, acted as deputy conductor to the Musical Director and arranged several pieces for the band.

He is shortly moving to Ross-on-Wye and was presented with farewell gifts and best wishes for the future. MD John Powell expressed thanks on behalf of all band members for the support he had given by in so many areas. David then took the baton for the final time, to conduct his own arrangement of the 'Hamiltonian March'.

Poetry for Pleasure

by Frank McGarry

LAST week I wrote about 'Dancing with Stones', a collection of verse by four local poets and we featured two poems from the book, both by Jim Morgan.

Another of the poets is Margery Forester, a writer who is well known for her excellent life of Michael Collins. This biography has been continuously in print since 1971 and is now also out in paperback.

Margery came here from New Zealand, where she was listening to and reciting poetry from her earliest childhood days.

The book title, 'Dancing with Stones' is also the title of one of the 25 examples of Margery's work in the collection. Here are two of her poems that I particularly enjoyed.

THE SUMMERHOUSE

Time stopped here one summer - was it 1942? -
The day their life-sentence 'Killed in Action'

Reached them, the parents.

Defrauded of posterity,

They trailed down to the summerhouse
And turned the key.

Forty years on we came, the first,

Mutes laggard to a funeral,

And found the tennis racquets

Where the young men had tossed them,

Their fingerprints their only title deeds

For sons never to be born.

Here they lounged,

Confident of life,

Charismatic in their virility
For flirting girls in white.

The Lloyd Loom chairs stank of mould

And mice, the jumbled net

Lay chewed and rotten.

A coppiced stump of shuttlecock,

A croquet set left undisturbed,

Testified to that monstrous crime,

The wanton snuffing-out of youth.

We paused, aware of memories unvisited,

Reluctant to disturb a war grave.

Then, in a cupboard, came to light

Tea things put away for the next party,

The next leave.

Bold yellow and purple crocuses,

Clarice Cliff bizarrely bringing home

The vivacity, the promise

Of that piercing summer day.

CELLO RECITAL

The young soloist fingers

The strings high on her cello's neck,

Preparing to reveal her skill,

To seek new insights.

As she draws her bow the cello wakens,

Imbued with the dreams of its French maker

More than two centuries before.

He chose his wood from the unhurried

Pine forests of the Alps, fine-grained and soft,

Brought it home to the warm south

Out Of Focus

ReView by Tom Glover

A CLASSIC comedy tale of mistaken identity and crossed wires delighted audiences in Burton Bradstock last week.

The story of how the unlikely cast of villagers came together to produce a pantomime was a great escapist way to spend a summers evening.

"Out of Focus", was the latest offering from the Burton Bradstock Players and was staged at the village hall.

The success of the show was, in no small part, down to the small cast of nine who instantly impacted their clearly defined characters on the audience and played their roles with believability throughout.

A difficult to follow, twisting storyline, was made all the easier to follow by a cast who had truly embodied the characters they were playing.

Director Gillian Knight had obviously worked hard to make sure that the characters had a back story beyond the stage.

The women in the tale definitely wore the trousers and the downtrodden men wore the dresses, literally in some cases, which bought a lot of comedy to the production.

The clash of such strong characters, meant everyone drew a laugh at some stage or another.

A few of the comedy highlights was the constant wittering of railway enthusiast Leonard Trotter (Chris Roberts), the simple "Meows" of David Wright (Doug Sheppard) and the clashes between the airy fairy vicar's wife Evonne Duckworth (Liz Slater) and the bossy and brusque scout leader Helen Beaver (Gill East).

The troubled love lives of Bob Enfield (Chris Briant) and Wayne Bryant (David Mayo) were also a great source of hilarity throughout as they clashed with Bob's wife Kath (Janet Tolputt) and the saucy secretary Linda Hammond (Karen Venn).

The path of true love never did run smooth but for Sue Dixon (Katherine Slater) at least, she finally got her man to give the tale a happy ending.

It would be easy to forget the backstage crew as their excellent work on the stage set, and faultless sound and lighting, made you forget you were watching a show. The simple setting of a church hall was done with great realism.

In the words of Evonne Duckworth the play was simply, "super".

To impregnate it with the sun's heat.
He carved and smoothed it, recalling joys and Sorrow he had known; formed ribs, neck,
Head and scroll; gave it breath.

How he enriched it with that sunset glow
Learnt from his master in Cremona,
Not even the confessional would hear.
He shaped its bow, strung with horsehair
Of the Camargue, rosined to touch and pluck
Its heart's vibrations.

As he tuned the strings he conjured up
Sounds he loved: dark rush of storm on height,
Notes scattered by fleeing orioles in a wood,
A girl's laughter lost in the Dordogne
When he was young.

These and all the passion of his soul
He bequeathed to this, his masterwork.

The cellist draws out the closing phrase
As if from a deep place within her -
Or the living thing she holds - she cannot tell.
She stands, bows, for a moment disconcerted
By applause of hands, not tears.

LOCAL ALBUM LAUNCH FOR BLUES STARS THE PRODUCERS

DAVE Saunders and Harry Skinner formed The Producers in 1990. They went on to be one of the most popular blues outfit in the country winning the 'Blues Band of the Year' award four times and releasing seven CD albums, one of which 'Ain't No Love in the World' was nominated for the 'Best Blues Album' award.

The Producers have regular sell out dates at blues clubs worldwide as well as invitations to headline major festivals including Colne, Burnley, Stanley Blues, Dublin Templebar, Cork, Farnham and the North Wales Blues Festival.

Recent festival highlights include opening for Robert Cray playing at Tauranga Blues + Jazz Festival Auckland, New Zealand and being joined on-stage by headliner Ray Charles' brass section and his 'Raelets' dancers at the Cognac Blues Festival, France.

After performing at the Alexis Korner Memorial Concert at Buxton Opera House the Producers were spotted by Peter Greens management and asked to support the Fleetwood Mac guitar legend on his first national tour for 25 years.

The Producers will be performing with original frontmen Harry Skinner and bass player Dave Saunders and will be joined by Ray Drury on organ/piano and Biff Smith on Drums and percussion to complete the lineup.

The Producers long awaited new album 'London Blues' will be the first album from the band since 'Live Blues' was released in 2000, a gap of 11 years, consequently it is creating lots of excitement within the blues community and the music industry in general.

The album features guests Paul Beavis (Go West, Low Riders) Andy Fairweather Low (Eric Clapton, Roger Waters) Dorset's own Ben Waters and five-times blues award winner Paul Lamb on piano and harmonica respectively with all the material being self penned originals.

The album launch concert will be performed at The Electric Palace, Bridport on Thursday, August 18th. Tickets are on sale now for £12.50 from Bridport Tourist Info Centre on 01308 424901.

Popular kids activities at Osprey Leisure Centre

THIS school summer holiday Osprey Leisure Centre has programmed the usual variety of popular activities for kids aged 5-14 years and added to the schedule to give parents the option to enrol their children for the whole week, certainly a benefit for the working mums and dads, all for £50 for the 5 full days.

Amongst the usual mix of activity days Osprey is now offering an indoor football academy on Tuesdays and Thursdays which when added to the half day multi activity sessions on the same day give 2 extra full days from 9am - 4pm which have not been available before.

There is also a competitive swim camp operating throughout the holidays which can be booked by calling the centre and a programme of intensive swim lessons for children wishing to improve their swimming skills if competitive swimming is not for them. Children wishing to collect achievement badges can do so every Wednesday morning at 9.30.

For any further information on the above or the adjacent adverts please feel free to contact the centre on 01305 824378 or visit the centre's website.

Tasty Food at the Palm House

If you thought The Palm House was simply a garden centre by Swannery Lake in the heart of Weymouth, think again. The Cafe is an attractive, relaxing venue to enjoy a fresh, tasty and healthy breakfast, snack or lunch.

For example, they offer 12 breakfast options including a freshly grilled Palm House Special with two local hand-made sausages, two rashers of back bacon, free range egg, hash-brown, mushrooms, tomatoes, beans and two slices of toast for just £5.95.

For brunch, they offer large toasted teacakes and fresh Danish pastries, cakes, muffins and croissants in a deal with tea (£2.50) or freshly ground coffee (£3.00). There is also a huge range of handmade cookies, perfect for dunking!

For lunch, they have an extensive range of freshly made sandwiches, baguettes, toasties and paninis and daily oven baked jacket potatoes with a choice of fillings. The Palm House also offer fresh homemade soup every day and at least three or four daily specials such as homemade chilli, nachos, gammon or rump steak baguette, chargrilled chicken Cajun wraps, sea bass fishcakes and Palm House Ploughmans Lunch. Their Dorset cream teas aren't bad either!

The Palm House never forget the children and the kid's menu includes seven main hot meal options, not one of which includes chips or nuggets and a further five cold food choices.

NETHERBURY - £350,000

THE White Cottage is a very pretty detached period cottage situated on the edge of one West Dorset's most sought-after villages.

The cottage is full of character features which include wooden lath doors, exposed beams, window seats and an inglenook fireplace. Believed to date back to the mid 1700s, with an extension added in 1970, the cottage has generous and flexible ground floor accommodation. The sitting room has a wonderful inglenook fireplace with original bread oven and a multi-fuel burner inset. Further to this there is a music room with French doors to the garden, a study to the rear and a useful rear lobby/workshop/potting room with door to the garden. The kitchen has a dining area and there is a ground floor bathroom/utility room. Both of the first floor bedrooms are double rooms, with the master having double aspect windows. Most of the windows are double-glazed, with a mixture of recently installed timber framed double-glazed units and some UPVC to the rear. The central heating is oil-fired.

Outside there is a driveway with parking for two vehicles and a south-east facing enclosed mature garden which surrounds the property, with the majority to the front of the cottage to enjoy the countryside views.

Accommodation includes: entrance hall, sitting room with inglenook fireplace, study, music room kitchen / breakfast room, ground floor bathroom/utility room, rear lobby/workshop, galleried landing, two double bedrooms, shower room, mostly double-glazed windows throughout, oil-fired central heating, driveway and enclosed gardens.

The asking price for The White Cottage is £350 000. To receive particulars or to arrange a viewing please contact Elder & Froy at our Beaminstre office on 01308 862606. To view the full sale particulars and floor plans please go to www.elderfroy.co.uk.

CHARMOUTH - £189,000 SHARE OF FREEHOLD

SOUTHWINDS is a converted, detached, 1920s house that now provides four quality apartments, which were completed early in 2002.

This well presented, ground floor apartment is situated in a prime location within a short, level walk of both the beach and the village centre. The property has been successfully run as a holiday let and rental property and would make an ideal holiday retreat or a buy to let investment or indeed a permanent home. It has a lounge/dining room, fitted kitchen, family bathroom with a separate shower, two double bedrooms, patio and private parking. It has gas central heating and UPVC double glazed windows.

The property has been well kept and offers a light modern apartment in an ideal level coastal position. The four flat owners/freeholders mutually plan the external maintenance program which runs very smoothly both financially and practically. Parking is at a premium in Charmouth thus a private driveway is a real plus factor. The rear paved patio is enclosed and sunny allowing a sheltered niche to dine or have a glass of wine.

To arrange a viewing contact the sole agents FORTNAM SMITH & BANWELL IN CHARMOUTH on 01297 560945 or visit www.fsb4homes.com or www.right-move.co.uk for details

Their labour rate may cost you less, but you could end up paying for it.

It's time to see through independent garages.

When it comes to servicing and repairing your Mercedes-Benz at an independent garage, can you be sure you're not paying more than you need to?

At Mercedes-Benz of Dorchester's Official Workshop, we'll tell you the price of any work that's needed and how long it'll take before we begin, so you'll know exactly where you stand.

Furthermore, all our Genuine Parts come with a comprehensive two-year guarantee and include the labour cost of fitting them, meaning that when you drive away, you'll feel reassured that if something goes wrong, we'll be on hand to help. That's why it pays to see the experts.

And at the moment, this is especially true. If you present the voucher below when bringing your car in to us, we'll give you £50 off the labour cost for any servicing or repair work we carry out.

To find out more, contact us today on 01305 264 494.

WITH ROB MEECH

Dorchester up to third after Moxom ton

DORSET FUNERAL PLAN LEAGUE

Premier League

BROADSTONE 188-9 LOST TO

DORCHESTER 189-3 BY SEVEN WICKETS

A MAGNIFICENT century from the returning Pete Moxom helped Dorchester climb into the top three of the Premier League.

Moxom, who has rejoined the county town outfit from Chard, showed his class in his maiden appearance of the season by racking up 121 at faster than a run a ball.

His was the outstanding display of the game but to say it was a single-handed effort would be to overlook fine contributions from elsewhere in the side.

Batting first at the Delph, Broadstone put on 58 for the opening wicket thanks to Sam Chapman (64) and Matt Thomas (27), before the visitors fought back brilliantly.

From 91-1, the home side crumbled to 114-7 as spin twins Rob Waite (3-29) and Sean Little (3-21) strangled the innings.

Adam Rendell (3-24) matched his team-mates with three wickets to restrict Broadstone to 188-9, when they had earlier looked like amassing a score in excess of 200.

Waite (28) and Moxom got the Dorchester innings off to a solid start with a stand of 69 before Rendell (13) and stand-in skipper Dan Belt (16 not out), deputising for the unavailable Martyn Richards, ensured there would be no collapse.

Moxom, who scored the vast majority of the entire innings' runs, finally departed with just seven needed but Little (6 not out) joined the acting captain at the crease to see the visitors over the finishing line.

This result has leapfrogged Dorchester over their opponents with four matches remaining.

WEYMOUTH 173 ALL OUT LOST TO

WIMBORNE & COLEHILL 174-6 BY FOUR WICKETS

WEYMOUTH slumped to their second successive defeat after struggling to come to terms with a tricky pitch at Wimborne & Colehill.

Having lost a crucial toss, the Seasideers were asked to bat first at the Leaze and suffered early setbacks as both Kieron Wombles (4) and Dean Janaway (4) departed cheaply.

Ben Lawes (58) and stand-in captain Tom England (31) then joined forces for a stabilising partnership of 91.

However, it was not long before wickets started to fall regularly again as Wimborne's Steve Nye (4-16) turned the screw, helping to dismiss the visitors for 173 in the final over.

Rob Nobbs (3-37) gave Weymouth hope with the initial breakthrough but the demons in the pitch eased as the sun dried out the surface, and the home side duly capitalised.

Ben Bridgen (60) and Graham Cole (51) combined for a vital stand of 97 and despite a few late wickets falling, Wimborne cruised home with many overs to spare.

Weymouth have dropped to seventh place in the standings and it has emerged that they are likely to be without injury-troubled skipper Paul Payne for the remainder of the season.

Division One

WEYMOUTH 2NDS 217-9 LOST TO

BROADSTONE 2NDS 219-3 BY SEVEN WICKETS

DAVE Trotter believes relegation this season could be in the best interests of not only Weymouth 2nds but the club in general.

The rock-bottom Seasideers went down to a seven-wicket defeat at home to leaders Broadstone 2nds at Redlands, in a game that was closer than the scoreline suggests.

Weymouth batted first and were indebted to Jim Ryall, who top-scored with a well-compiled 80, while Simon Mitchem (48) and Andy Jarvis (25) played supporting roles.

Their total of 217-9 looked extremely respectable and hopes were high in the home camp that they could spring a surprise with the ball.

Trotter (1-25) made an early inroad to the formidable Broadstone batting line-up but a couple of dropped catches cost Weymouth dear as the visitors took the honours.

With four games remaining, the 2nds appear doomed and Trotter said: "It is looking like we will go down but I think that might be in the best interests of the club.

"All credit to the guys that keep turning up week in, week out but it's difficult to compete at this standard with the players we have available at the moment.

"The club might change from three Saturday teams to two, which would make us more competitive, as would dropping down to a lower division."

Division Two

WITCHAMPTON 255-6 BEAT BEAMINSTER 146 BY 109 RUNS

ROSS Baker has resigned himself to back-to-back relegations after Beaminster collapsed to a heavy reversal at the hands of Witchampton.

A wonderful display from Adam Crocker, who plundered 84 with the bat before returning figures of 4-33, sentenced the Memorial Ground outfit to their 10th defeat of the term.

Despite three wickets for off-spinner Mark Barber (3-45), the hosts racked up an imposing 255-6 as Beaminster's inexperienced side wilted in the heat.

In response Dave Penman (22), Nick David (35), Simon Jones (22) and Baker (27) all threatened to build a big innings but once they were out the lower order folded.

Beaminster fielded three debutants and skipper Baker, who admitted this was their "weakest performance of the season", now feels his side are playing for pride.

He said: "We are struggling for players at the moment and had three more on debut. It was our weakest performance of the season.

"Witchampton batted sensibly and paced their innings well. Mark Barber was the pick of the bowlers but the second choice bowlers struggled and conceded too many wides.

"We were never in the hunt after losing opener Richard Runyard in the first over. The rest of the top five all batted well but the middle and tail collapsed meekly.

"It looks like we probably will go down, but we have got to try to get a couple of wins to give us some respectability."

DORCHESTER 2NDS 213-6 BEAT BERE REGIS 204-7 BY NINE RUNS

DORCHESTER 2nds produced a superb performance to narrowly overturn title-chasing Bere Regis and bolster their own promotion aspirations.

In an extremely tight division, the county town side are now up to fourth position and are only one average point behind second-placed Bere Regis.

Batting first, Dorchester registered 213-6 from their allotted 45 overs and in a tense conclusion to the match, held their nerve to restrict their opponents to 204-7 and win by just nine runs.

Division Three

BRIDPORT 313-7 BEAT BLANDFORD 2NDS 138 ALL OUT BY 175 RUNS

BRIDPORT moved off the foot of the table and kept alive their faint survival hopes thanks to a timely victory over fellow strugglers Blandford 2nds.

The Brewery Field outfit, whose batting has regularly let them down this season, totalled an enormous 313-7 from their allotted 45 overs.

All-rounder Marcel Grunschloss top-scored with 67 for the home side, while Sam Challis (66) and Mark Tozer (55) both passed the half-century mark in a glorious display.

Sam Good weighed in with 39 while no fewer than 50 extras helped Bridport exceed 300 - their biggest total this season by far.

With such a commanding score, Blandford had little chance of registering a victory and an early scalp for Graham Bartlett (1-18) made their task even more arduous.

The wickets were shared around but Wes Lewis caught the eye with 2-16 before a three-wicket maiden from Liam Toohill (3-20) hastened the end of the match.

Skipper Mark Smith said: "You could see that Blandford were struggling but that shouldn't take anything away from our performance.

"It was an excellent performance and it has given us a chance of staying up. We need to carry on the momentum gained from this result and look to win our next four matches.

"If we can do that and get some help from other results then survival is still a possibility. This performance has shown that we can play well."

CATTISTOCK 136-9 LOST TO

MARTINSTOWN 138-2 BY EIGHT WICKETS

A POOR batting performance from Cattistock was to blame for their eight-wicket defeat against promotion-chasing Martinstown.

Cattistock lost the toss and were put in but never got going with the willow as Matt Camp stole the limelight by returning excellent figures of 12-4-17-6.

Giles Lock-Ingham (26) and Bradley Damen (20) were the only batsmen to register scores of note for the home side.

Tom Adams led the Martinstown reply with great skill, carrying his bat with an undefeated 73 and he also received valuable support from Henry Lewis (24).

While Martinstown remain on course for promotion to Division Two, third-bottom Cattistock will be looking nervously over their shoulder.

Division Four

BEAMINSTER 2NDS 191 ALL OUT

LOST TO SUTTONS SECONDS 192-1 BY NINE WICKETS

THREADBARE Beaminster Seconds remain anchored to the foot of the table after suffering a nine-wicket defeat by Suttons Seconds.

Such was the shortage of personnel because of unavailability and first-team call-ups that Beaminster actually considered scratching the game.

In the end they managed to scrape together 11 players - including three under-16s, three debutants and another two who had never before played competitive cricket.

It came as little surprise then that they struggled against a strong Suttons outfit, who are pushing for promotion and included two first-team regulars.

Batting first, Beaminster slumped to 94-7 despite handy knocks from Drew Brown (34) and Fred Etherington (30), who continued his good form.

An entertaining eighth-wicket partnership of 92 between Paul Martin (64) and Stu Lindsay (30) boosted the total to 191 - their highest score of the campaign.

However, Suttons' opener Garry Coffin made the target look wholly inadequate as he finished with an unbeaten 106, with the only wicket to fall being a Toby James run out.

WEYMOUTH 3RDS 119 ALL OUT

LOST TO KINGSTON LACY 121-6 BY FOUR WICKETS

WEYMOUTH 3rds' miserable campaign continued on Saturday as they lost to Kingston Lacy by four wickets.

The Seasideers, who have uncorked the victory champagne just twice all season, are all but relegated and currently boast a meagre points average of just 3.50.

They could only muster 119 after having first use of the pitch, with Craig Johnson (32) and James Harris (23) being the only batsmen to frustrate Lacy's bowlers.

The total never looked like being enough but 15-year-old Harry Mitchell (4-44) gave the visitors more than a few scares in his 12-over spell.

Sam Rathnayake (1-125) and Luke Harrington (1-29) also deservedly struck with a wicket each to help reduce Lacy to 99-6, but an upset did not materialise.

Division Five

PUDDLETOWN 244-8 BEAT

DORCHESTER 3RDS 146 ALL OUT BY 98 RUNS

A WELL-CONSTRUCTED partnership of 151 between Sam Goodhew and John Bailey saw Puddletown claim a comprehensive victory over Dorchester 3rds.

Puddletown won an important toss and elected to bat but the game was finely balanced as Lewis Chutter and 14-year-old debutant Peter Horne picked up an early wicket apiece.

Both bowlers were unlucky not to remove Bailey and Goodhew, who then batted sensibly and whose running was an education for the young Dorchester side.

The partnership was finally broken by the impressive Horne (3-46), who had Bailey snaffled by skipper Pete Tucker at cover for 54.

Chutter then ran out Goodhew and his brother Tim, before cameo innings from Mal Guring (19) and Chris Ascot (12) accelerated the run-rate in the dying overs.

Dorchester's reply started brightly before Jamie Barrett struck twice to oust Stu Voss for 26 and Jae Miller for 21.

George Thomas (16) and Chutter (35) both looked in good form and were batting fluently, adding 40 runs and taking the Dorchester score past the 100-run mark.

However, an alarming batting collapse saw seven wickets tumble for only 30 runs as Tim Goodhew (5-25) and his brother Sam (2-32) cleaned up the tail.

Dorchester skipper Tucker said: "Our batting was disappointing, especially with the top four getting good starts but not being able to put together the big innings that were needed.

"I was delighted to blood three more 14-year-old debutants, bringing the total to 16 players of 17 or under who have played for the 3rds this season."

Division Six

BRIDPORT 2NDS 80 ALL OUT

LOST TO ABBOTSBURY 81-2 BY EIGHT WICKETS

ABBOTSBURY turned in a superlative display to crush local rivals Bridport 2nds and keep alive their slim promotion aspirations.

Swans' skipper Simon Pengelly had little hesitation in opting to use the ball first in humid conditions and his decision was fully vindicated as the home bowlers returned to devastating form.

Grafton Straker (6-19) was yet again the pick of the bunch and he was ably supported by Mark Homewood (2-34) as well as by two stunning slip catches from Frank Pittman.

With the visitors stilted for a paltry 80, the Abbotsbury batsmen found things much more to their liking as Gary Pittman (30 not out) and Robin Potter (22) saw them well on the way to their sixth victory of the campaign.

To their credit, Bridport kept going to the end in a lost cause and the second wicket they claimed earned them their solitary point, with Abbotsbury taking 19.

Bridport captain Jamie Dolman commented: "I can't remember the last time we beat Abbotsbury at their place and we never really had a chance after only scoring 80.

"We tried to keep the field tight with the ball but it was difficult defending such a low total.

"Hopefully we can still finish fourth, which was our minimum aim at the start of the season."

Division Seven

PARKSTONE 170 ALL OUT

LOST TO CREWKERNE 171-6 BY FOUR WICKETS

ROBBIE James contributed well with both bat and ball to keep Crewkerne within touching distance of the promotion places.

Lowly Parkstone batted first at Henhayes and managed to post a competitive score of 170, which was due mainly to 55 from Andy Thompson.

Francis Medley (3-48) and Philip Palfrey (3-29) shared six wickets, while James' economical figures of 2-24 from his 12 overs kept the scoring rate down.

Fresh from his bowling exploits, James opened the batting and top-scored with 63, which featured seven boundaries and a maximum.

Fellow opener Steve Briggs (37) also displayed fine form and despite a flurry of wickets towards the death, with Matt Holton taking 2-18, Crewkerne eased to their victory target.

Division Eight

SHAFTESBURY 229 ALL OUT

BEAT MARTINSTOWN 2NDS 136 ALL OUT BY 93 RUNS

UNBEATEN Shaftesbury continued their inexorable march towards Division Seven and proved much too strong for Martinstown 2nds.

Martinstown were still in the game at tea, having bowled out their opponents for 229. Chris Monteith finished with an analysis of 4-59, while Declan Croft recorded figures of 3-47.

There was also a wicket apiece for Ben Wood (1-41) and Robin Ffello (1-39).

However, Shaftesbury were merciless with the ball and skittled the home side for 136 in reply. Martinstown currently lie mid-table in the league's basement division as the season reaches its climax.

LONGHAM GARDEN MACHINERY SUNDAY LEAGUE

Division Four

SYMENE 261-8 BEAT BOURNEMOUTH 2NDS 172-9 BY 89 RUNS

MARCEL Grunschloss was the star performer as Symene maintained their grip on a top-two spot courtesy of a handsome victory over Bournemouth 2nds.

Grunschloss produced a typically belligerent innings with the bat, scoring a quick-fire 81 at number seven to propel the West Dorset outfit's innings to a commanding 261-8.

Liam Toohill had earlier scored 69 and there were solid contributions down the order from Richard Keech (23) and Mark Tozer (41).

Bournemouth's innings struggled to get out of first gear in reply as Colin Wilcox (3-29) ripped through the top-order.

A couple of frustrating partnerships developed but the introduction to the attack of Grunschloss proved decisive, as he continued his excellent form.

In just eight overs, the South African all-rounder returned exceptional figures of 5-52 to keep Symene firmly on course for a place in Division Three next year.

■ ALL ROUND: Marcel Grunschloss' efforts were crucial in Symene's big win over Bournemouth 2nds

LYME REGIS BOWLS

WITH PAUL MOFFITT

Tested by varying greens

A MIXED week of results for the league teams, some very good and some disappointing.

The championship side took a well deserved maximum 10 points against Branksome Park at home, the 'A' team came away with a useful six points , despite only winning on one rink.

The 'B' team, who had been cruising along quite nicely in the last few weeks, had a disaster at Dorchester losing all 10 points.

The ladies struggled away on a very fast track at Greenhill, but did manage to salvage two points.

I can't remember another season when there has been so much variance in the speed of the greens.

Whereas at this time of year you expect all greens to be running fairly quickly, this year that is not the case and when playing away, you need to acclimatise pretty quickly to the conditions or the game is lost.

The friendly front has also been a bit of a mixed bag, losing some that as a Club we might normally expect to win.

The much awaited bi-annual trip

Charity cricket at Uplyme

UPLYME & Lyme Regis Cricket Club are organising a special King George Candles event in partnership with 'Candles on the Cobb', the Lyme Regis-based charity which raises money for youth and other local causes.

The event scheduled for Sunday, September 4th will be a 40 over cricket game starting at 1pm followed, at 8pm, by the lighting of over 2000 candles around the cricket ground.

The Candle on the Cobb Committee has agreed that the candles will be "sold" on behalf of the Sam Nunn appeal.

Sam is an Uplyme youngster, who has been fighting a rare form of cancer for three years. The money raised will go towards payment for a six month course of treatment in a German clinic, the only place where this treatment is available. People are encouraged to buy a candle "to remember somebody".

Candle Certificates are currently available for sale at: Along Came Polly, Nags Head, Paul's Barber Shop, Rock Point Inn, Talbot Arms, Travis-Perkins, Town Mill Cheesemonger and Uplyme Village Stores.

Charmouth FC hoping for better times

CHARMOUTH Football Club's training is now in full swing on Wednesdays at 6.15pm and Saturday's at 1pm at the Playing Field in Barrs Lane.

New Managers Phill Morris and Gerry Bearpark are looking forward to rebuilding the squad to hope to embark on a successful season in Division Two of Perry Street League following the previous disappointing seasons which resulted in back-to-back relegations.

The club is promoting a policy of fair play, fitness and fun as well as success and in particular encouraging more local and young players to join.

Any potential players past, present or new to the club who might be interested in playing for our friendly village club this season are requested to come along to the training sessions this week, as the first pre-season friendlies will soon be taking place.

If you require more information please contact Phill Morris on 07598468242, Gerry Bearpark on 07817555450 or Committee Member Mike Smith on 01297 560529.

LYME REGIS GOLF WITH STEVE PERCIVAL

Caddy Classic Golf

VERY much a social event with a serious fund raising intent, brothers Russell and Lee Caddy staged their annual golf classic event on Friday, July 29th.

In near perfect weather and with the course continuing to play firm on the fairways and true but quick on the greens, the event was a resounding success both in terms of scores carded and funds raised.

The overall winner with 43 Stableford points was Dave Henson closely followed by Mike Cotton from Seaton with 42 and Shane Stone with 41.

Following the golf the majority of participants enjoyed an excellent meal in the club house presided over by Master of Ceremonies David Astill who, through a variety of "fines," helped to boost the funds raised.

The total of £450 raised was divided between The Uplyme & Lyme Regis Cricket Club and the Lyme Regis Football Club of which the sons of Russell - Ashley and Adam, are respective captains.

Junior Order of Merit

THE Junior Order of Merit event held on Saturday, July 30th resulted in some excellent scores.

In first place with a net 70 was Daniel Collier, second was David Lyon on countback also with a net 70 was David Lyon followed by George Yorke with a net 72.

DORSET SUNK BY KEEGAN

BY HOWARD LARCOMBE

DORSET County cricket team were on the wrong end of a superb batting display from Jamie Perkin as they were beaten by Oxfordshire on their own Dean Park track last week.

The 21-year-old right-hander struck superb back-to-back centuries as Dorset succumbed to their second heavy defeat on the trot.

It was a case on honours more or less even after the first innings with the visitors who won the toss and elected to bat first holding a slim 10 run lead.

Oxford recovered from 23 for 4 to post 329 for 8 after Perkin (122) was well supported by Jonny Cater (98) in a 215-run stand for the fifth wicket.

The Dorset reply was boosted by half-centuries from Aaron Williams (65), Mansoor Khan (67) and Matt Metcalf (54) in the face of a sustained threat from paceman Chad Keegan who netted 7 for 123 from his 26.2 overs.

The Perkins/Cater combination clicked again in the second innings as the pair another 121 partnership as Oxfordshire declared on 278 for 5.

The target of 289 was never really on once the hosts had slumped to 35 for 4 and a steady procession of wickets, with Keegan (6 for 32) reeking havoc, saw Dorset fall well short on 125 all out.

Lyme off to strong start

LYME Regis Football club's pre-season friendly schedule has produced some encouraging results.

The Seasiders, certain to be amongst the Perry Street League Premier Division title-chasers once again, overcame the talented youngsters of Devon & Exeter League high-fliers Seaton Town 2-1 before holding a Bridport XI to 1-1 draw at St Marys.

The Seaton game saw Lyme withstand a first-half onslaught by the hosts and sneak a victory with goals from Julien Simier and Mark Bailey (pen).

Dom Rowe was on target in the draw at Bridport and has made a strong start to the season: "He's been outstanding" said Lyme Manager Robin Townsend who has also been impressed by newcomers Will Mowbray and Kieran White (Pictured right).

Bowled over at Bridport

WITH a free taster session on offer this weekend Bridport Indoor Bowls club invited me along early to try my hand at the sport.

Having already been tested at short-mat bowls in my main column, transferring to the indoor green was like moving from a pool table to a snooker table.

While they were both good fun, the long game required a lot more skill and precision.

Tucked away at the rear of St Andrews Industrial Estate the home of the club is a haven for its 210 members.

You can't fail to be impressed by the setup the club has, with perfectly lit greens that are just begging to be played on.

The facilities are second to none as well with changing rooms, kitchen and even a fully stocked bar. No new member has to worry about forking out on expensive equipment either as the club has everything you could possibly want to borrow. And if you do decide to take the game up seriously they even have second-hand clothes and equipment on sale to ease the costs.

Before putting me into a game I got some expert tuition from senior coach Harry Black and level two coach Arthur Stone.

It's a whistle-stop tour of their five-week course in just two hours but they manage to get me playing to a competent level in a very short space of time.

The men clearly know what they are talking about and their years of knowledge is welcomed by a rookie like me.

I'm then teamed up with experienced player Ivor Parker to take on Mike Long and Bernard Waterman in a doubles match. Mike is a newly hooked bowls lover and Bernard is a product of their regular disability group who meet every Friday.

The club are keen to have people of all abilities at the club and have made the effort to buy specially adapted wheelchairs and equipment for disabled players.

At the halfway stage it didn't look good for Ivor and me who manage to go three behind. With one end left to play though we tie-up the match and it's all to play for. I go first and manage to leave all my woods in the scoring zone to leave Ivor a fighting chance of claiming victory.

A tense exchange between Ivor and Mike boils down to the last wood. Mike can't quite thread the needle with his wood and Ivor and me claim victory by a point, 5-4.

◆ If you would like to join the free taster session this weekend then visit the Bridport Indoor Bowls club on the St Andrews Industrial Estate this Saturday, August 6th. The session runs from 10am to 2pm and all equipment is provided. For more details contact Arthur Stone on 01308 425278.

Beasley earns bragging rights for 10-man Terras

DORCHESTER TOWN 1 WEYMOUTH 2

Pre-season friendly, Saturday July 30th
WEYMOUTH overturned a one-goal deficit to clinch the inaugural Bob Lucas Memorial Trophy at the Avenue Stadium on Saturday writes Rob Meech.

Nick Crittenden had given the Magpies the lead four minutes before half-time but the Terras fought back with goals from Rob Wolleaston and Jamie Beasley.

Both sides ended with 10 men as tempers boiled over in the latter stages of a typically uncompromising and highly-charged derby between these fierce foes.

Dorchester striker Rico Wilson and Weymouth defender Ben Gerring were both shown straight red cards by referee Chris Brokenshaw for their actions in an ugly melee.

Wilson's dismissal for lashing out was deserved but Gerring was left utterly bewildered and claimed he had only tried to act as peacemaker.

During the opening exchanges there had been little indication of the drama that would unfold, as the two local rivals attempted to grab a foothold in the proceedings.

Ben Dickenson, Chris Flood and Crittenden all tried their luck from long range but were foiled by the safe hands of Weymouth custodian Nick Jordan.

At the other end, a breakdown in communication between Nathan Walker and keeper Simon Evans allowed Beasley to sneak in, but he inexplicably fluffed his lines.

The Magpies then came within inches of taking the lead as former Terra Kyle Critchell crossed for Flood, only for his snapshot to rebound off the underside of the bar.

A wonderful free-kick from Stephen Reed forced an athletic save from Evans, which proved crucial as Dorchester made the breakthrough within 60 seconds.

On 41 minutes, substitute Steve Devlin, on in place of the injured Dickenson, supplied a pinpoint delivery for Crittenden to volley home with aplomb at the back post.

Some may have expected Weymouth to fold but instead they re-emerged for the second period with purpose and it was not long before they were back on level terms.

A hurried clearance from new recruit Harrison Bell was charged down by Crittenden and ricocheted to Wolleaston, who slotted the ball past Evans.

After the withdrawal of talismanic skipper Mark Jermyn through a hamstring strain, Bell spurned a chance to redeem himself as he could only side-foot his shot at Jordan.

Shortly afterwards the Terras gained the lead when Beasley cut inside and unleashed a venomous shot, although Evans will feel he could have done better.

An unmarked Critchell then headed wide for Dorchester before Wilson also could not find the target from another accurate Devlin cross.

Wilson had caused Weymouth considerable problems with his pace but soon he was under the spotlight for all the wrong reasons after winning a free-kick against Ollie Tribe.

As Weymouth's players remonstrated with Brokenshaw, Wilson grabbed Tribe by the throat, which sparked further recriminations.

Tribe was cautioned but Wilson, who had only been on the pitch for 12 minutes, had no option but to head for the touchline, before Gerring controversially followed him.

The unsavoury scenes were not only confined to the playing surface, as a plastic cup and a plastic bottle were thrown at Jordan, which led to one spectator being ejected.

Despite this unedifying climax, it was perhaps fitting that Weymouth were the ones celebrating winning the trophy named in honour of Terras' legend Bob Lucas.

Magpies: Evans (Chenoweth 72), Critchell, N Martin (Dovell 51), Jermyn (Coutts 59), Walker, Peprah Annan, Crittenden, Nicholls (Bell 51), Moss, Flood (Wilson 71), Dickenson (Devlin 37).

Terras: Jordan, Tribe, Dixon, Reed (A Martin 77), Gerring, Poole, Marshallsay (McKechnie 65 (Lang 86)), Tasker (Wolleaston 46), Bassett (Groves 46), Byerley (Halloran 74), Beasley (Toghil 65).

King stunned by red card

BRENDON King was left bemused by the decision to send off Ben Gerring in Saturday's inaugural Bob Lucas Memorial Trophy.

Weymouth captured the silverware – and the local bragging rights – after coming from behind to upstage higher-league Dorchester Town 2-1 at the Avenue Stadium.

Nick Crittenden had given the Magpies a first-half advantage before goals from Rob Wolleaston and Jamie Beasley earned the Terras a notable giant-killing.

But it was the flashpoint seven minutes from time, which resulted in red cards for Gerring and Dorchester's Rico Wilson, that upset King. Wilson took great exception to a strong but fair challenge from Ollie Tribe and was given his marching orders by referee Chris Brokenshaw after lashing out at the defender.

However, much to his surprise, Gerring was also sent for an early bath following advice from one of the referee's assistants.

King, who thought Gerring's dismissal "beggared belief", said: "All our lads have said it was a great tackle by Ollie Tribe and that the lad (Wilson) has reacted.

BY ROB MEECH

"Ben went over to separate two players and the referee saw it but the linesman, who was 60 yards away, said he raised his hands.

"Hopefully a bit of sense might prevail and the referee can have a look at it. I can't understand why he let the linesman overrule him. It ruined the last 10 minutes of a hard-fought derby."

Notwithstanding Gerring's red card, King was delighted with the spirit his side exhibited against their Blue Square Bet South opponents.

He added: "We've been banging on to the boys about our shape and discipline at the back. We knew we'd have to defend, but actually Dorchester didn't have many clear-cut chances.

"We know we have players that can do damage on the ball and you could see that. We are really chuffed but it's not just about the result, it's about the performance."

King admits to being "reasonably happy" with his side's development ahead of their Evo-Stik Southern Premier Division opener at home to Cambridge City in 10 days' time.

A trip to Wimborne Town this Saturday wraps up a fruitful pre-season campaign, which has featured victories over Eastleigh and a West Ham XI.

◆ In transfer news, Gerring has finally put pen to paper on a deal at Weymouth, while Wolleaston, whose appearance on Saturday was his first for the Terras in pre-season, was expected to sign yesterday.

Meanwhile, former chairman George Rolls has announced he is to return to the club as a director following the departure of several Lithuanian board members.
